

Zine by Collins Malaka

Supported by:

Federal Ministry
for Economic Cooperation and Development

Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst
German Academic Exchange Service

WASTE
4
LIFE

"People think of them as crazy, poor, dirty and uneducated people who scramble through the trash to eke out a living."

"They are the unseen but essential connection between the waste management system and the economy and they're subsidising the entire thing"

"The blind is leading the blind"

SAHRC vs uMsunduzi: Municipality in high court for Pietermaritzburg, KwaZulu-Natal, Monday 15 February 2021- The case filed by the SAHRC against the uMsunduzi municipality over its management of the New England Road Landfill site in Pietermaritzburg is being heard in the high court today.

for failing to cleaning up

January 2021- The case filed by the SAHRC against the uMsunduzi municipality over its management of the New England Road Landfill site in Pietermaritzburg is being heard in the high court today.

Government must
Wake up, we need
Sustainable Solutions.

HOPE RESTORED!!!

They are "working honestly" to earn a living and contribute to society, according to IMDbThe Reclaimers collect around 80 to 90 percent of all post-consumer packaging and paper left behind. If they stopped tomorrow, there would be no recycling industry in South Africa," says Dr Melanie Samson,

Considering how much money they save government, they are performing a critical role and yet they are largely stigmatised and harassed and not seen as people.

The waste pickers have stepped into a gap left behind by a lazy population that doesn't separate at source (SAS) and the waste pickers have created an entire recycling economy built on their expertise.

"Their Voice"
"Their Hope"

For more information please contact:

Dr Kundani Makakavhule

Senior Lecturer: Department of Town and Regional Planning

Research Committee Chairperson and Coordinator

Programme Coordinator: Masters Town and Regional Planning Coursework

Tel +27 (0)12 420 4180

Email kundani.makakavhule@up.ac.za

www.up.ac.za

Faculty of Engineering, Built Environment and Information Technology

Room 1-6, Building 8, South Campus

University of Pretoria, Private Bag X20

Hatfield 0028, South Africa

Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst
German Academic Exchange Service